

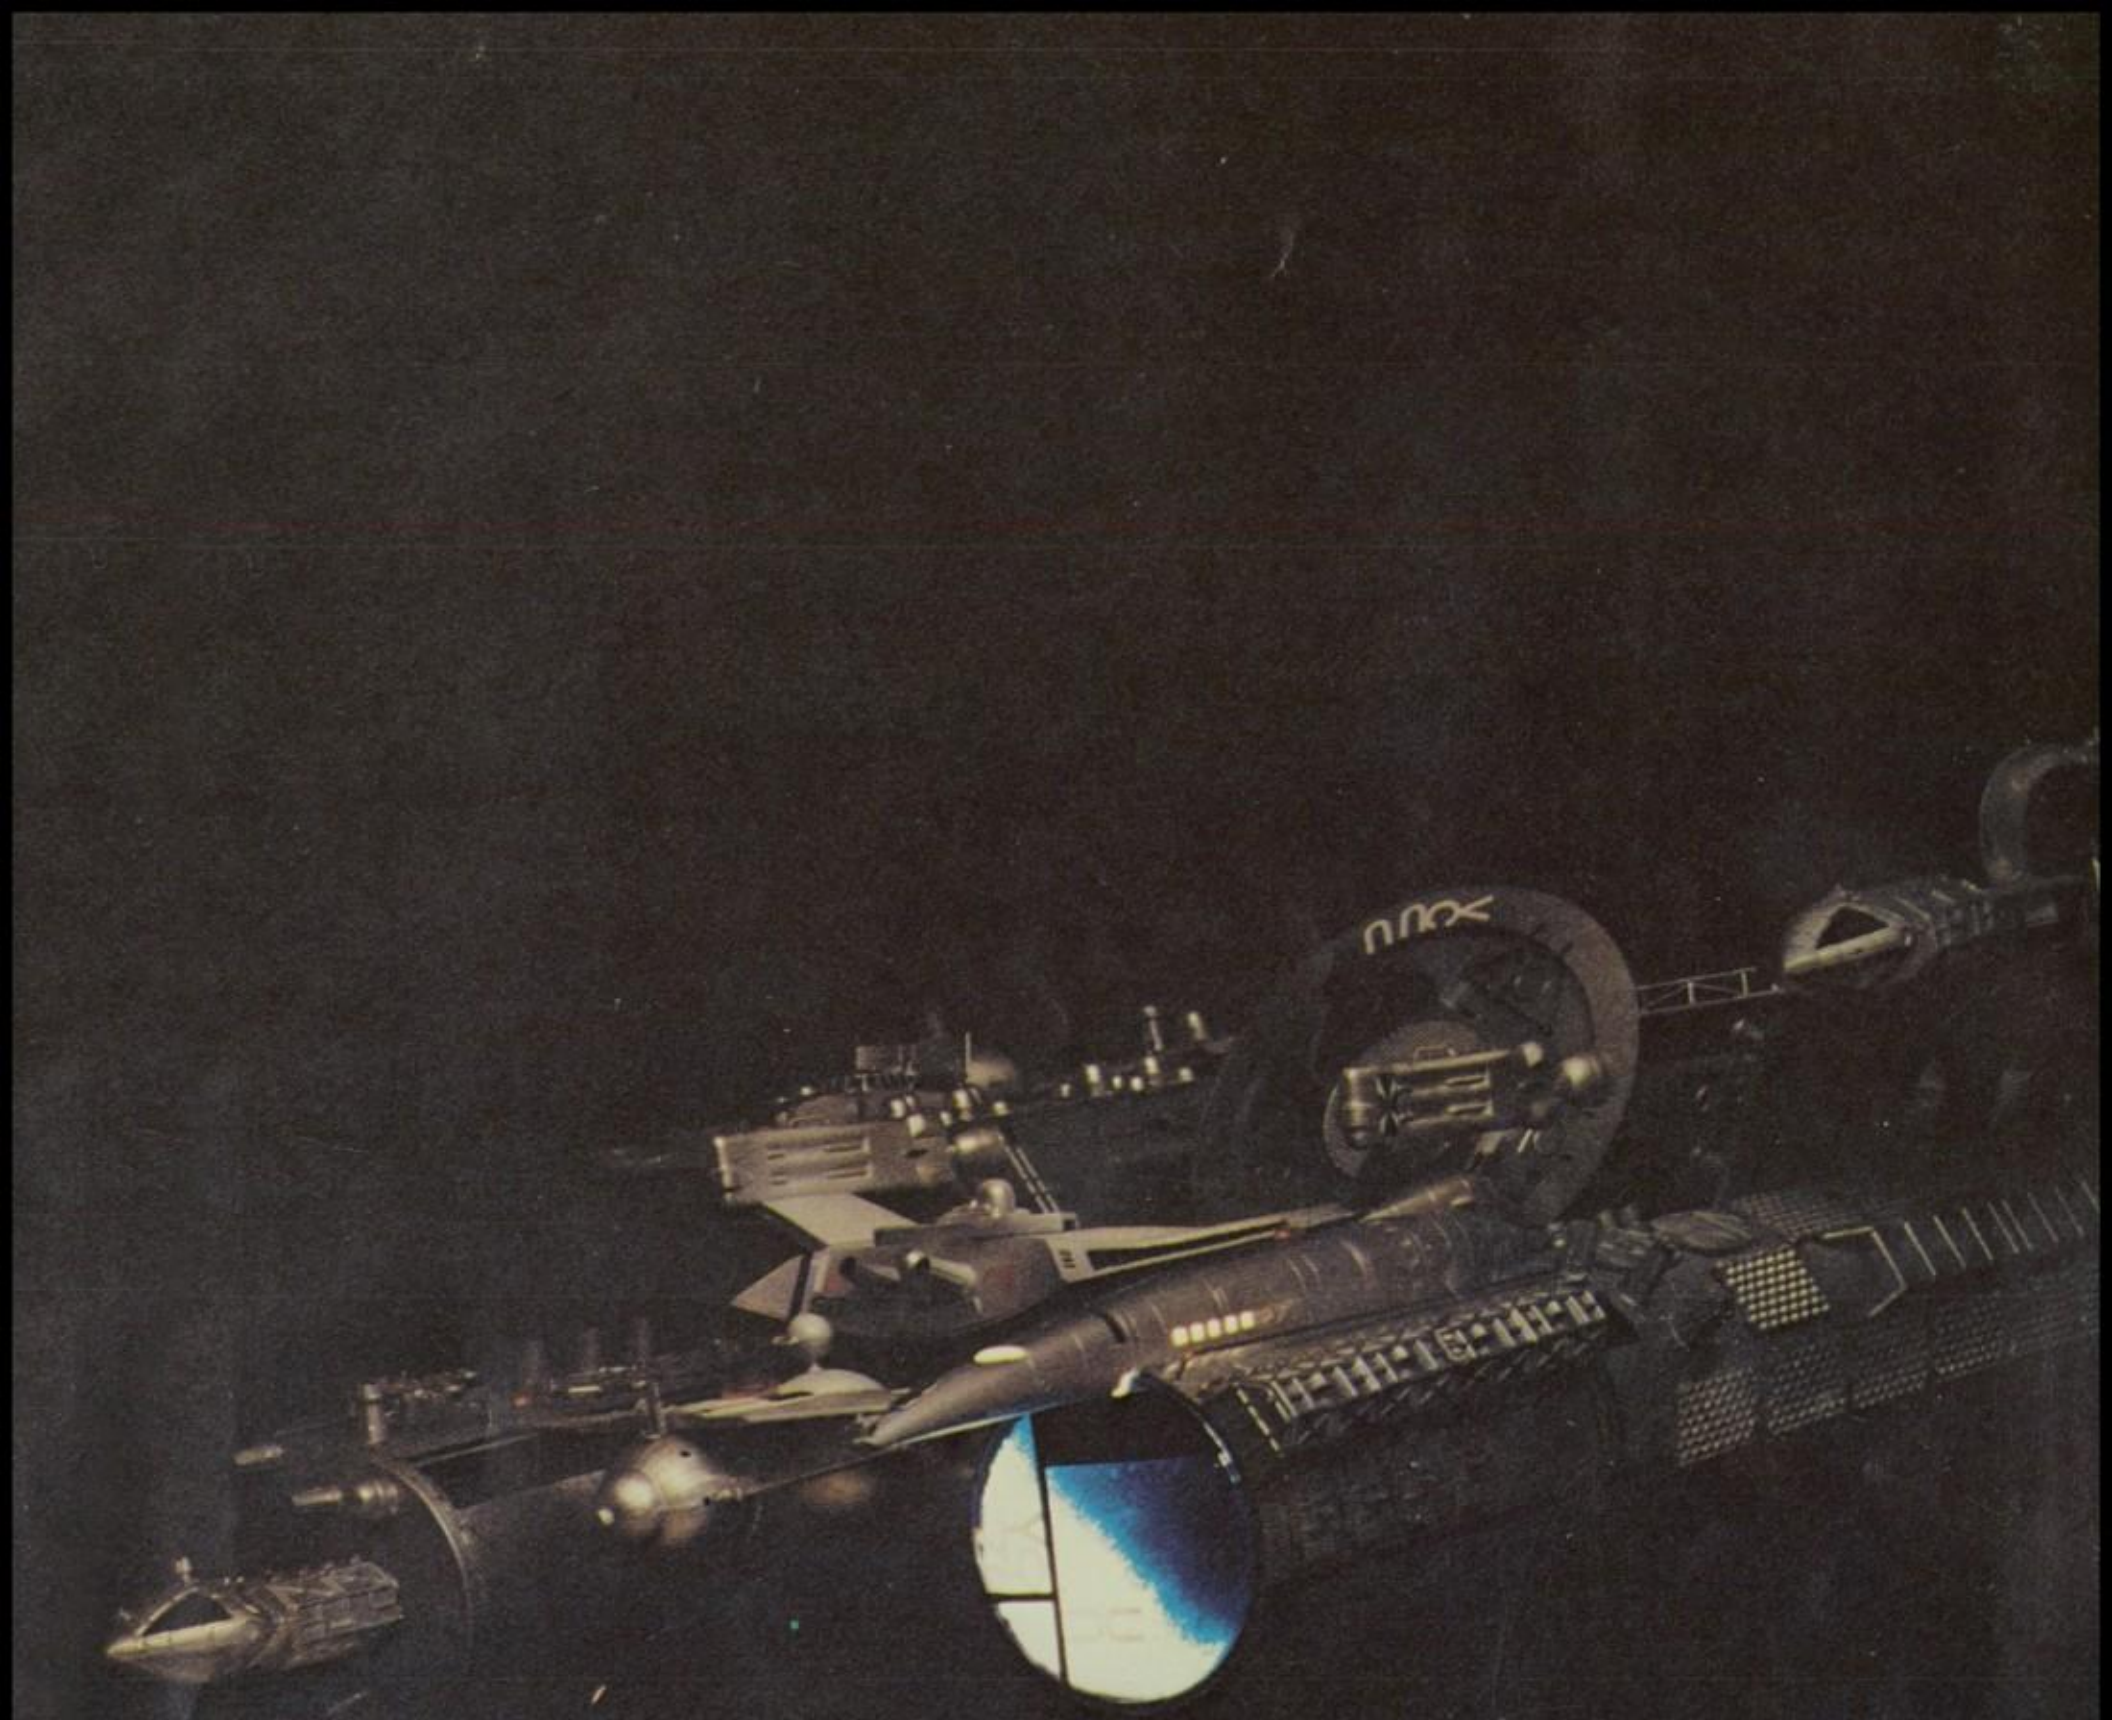
RAGNARÖK

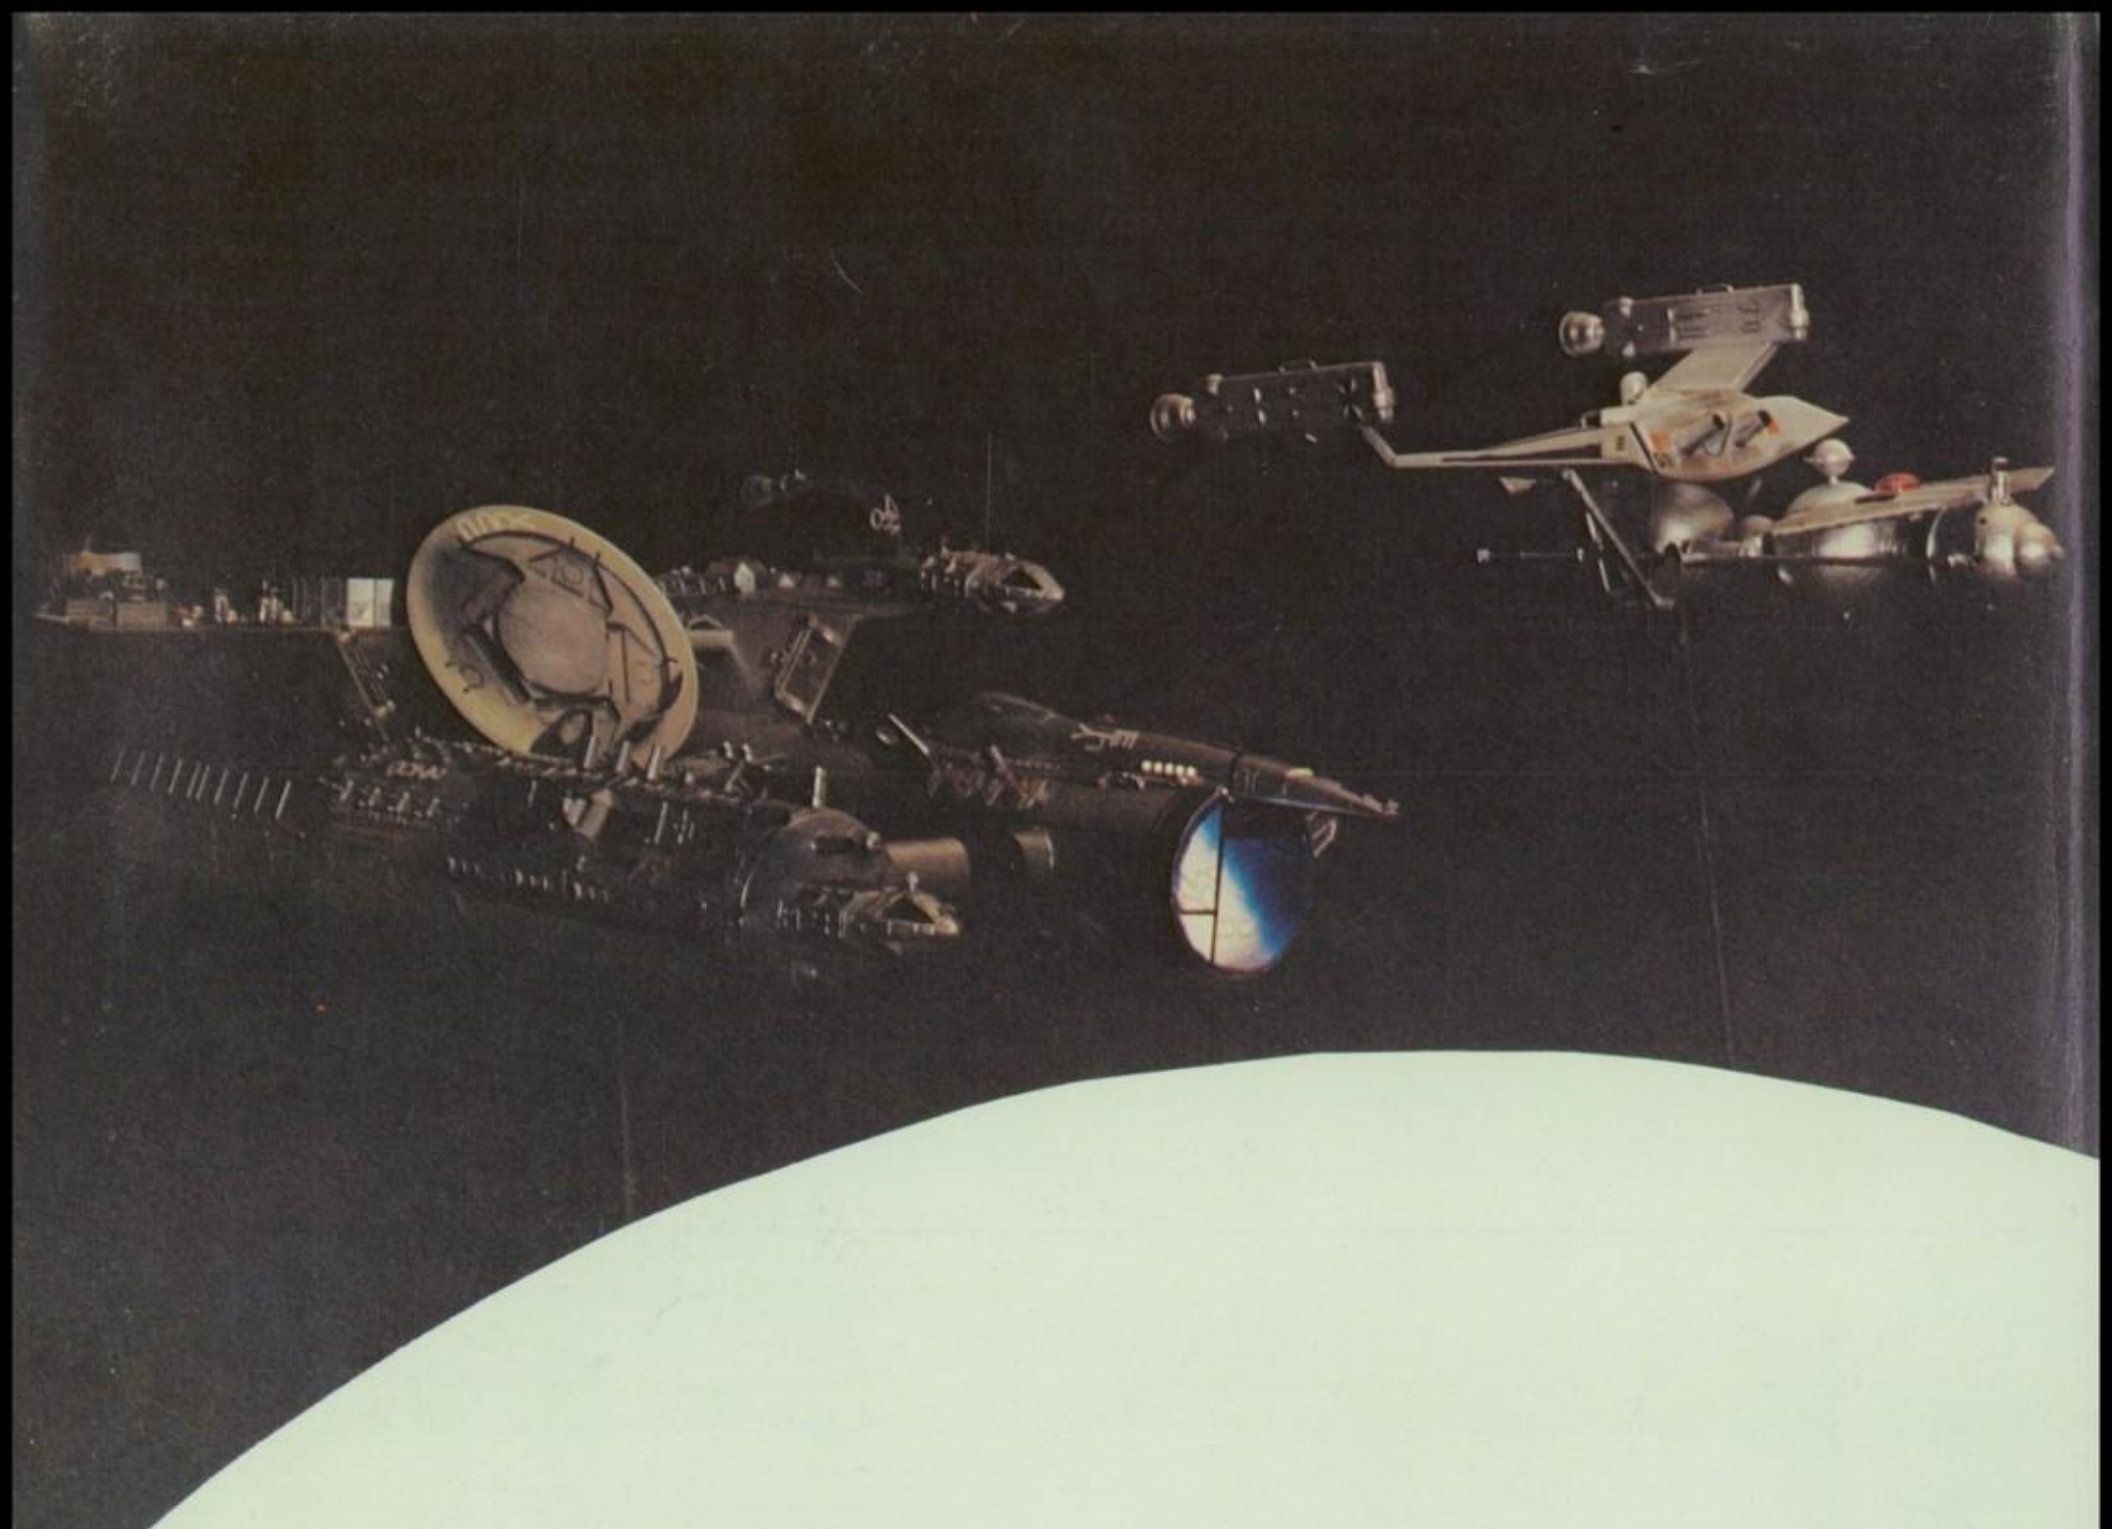


Zulini: Ragnarok? . . . What is that immense amalgamation of events whirling about through the atmosphere, Zorphus?

Zorphus: I'm not aware of what object you speak, Zulini. I'll take a look . . ..

Zulini: For the love of Jupiter, would you please keep your scanners fixated on our course! You almost struck that last meteorite! Hmmm . . . Ragnarok . . . Ragnarok . . . that term sounds vaguely familiar. I do believe I've heard it mentioned on the Audiotron.

Zorphus: It's probably some strange Norse term meaning "the termination of the consecration." Or perhaps it simply means "the end of the beginning." In either case, it sounds as if it's a title for some sort of fancy periodical.



Zulini: Periodical? Be not so silly, Zorphus. The term "Ragnarok" must have some deep, inner significiance that is not only symbolically profound, but intellectually stimulating as well . . . why else would it be wafting through space?

Zorphus: Well, whatever it was, it now floats behind us . . .
Zulini: . . . whirling on its never culminating voyage through space.
Zorphus: Now how about helping me find a way back to our planet, Zulini.
Zulini: Are you trying to tell me we're subverted?

Zorphus: Yes, that might be a reasonable assumption.
Zulini: (sarcastically) That's just stupendous, Zorphus. Yes, just truly fine.
Zorphus: Now, now Zulini, let's not get rancorous.

Zulini: (rancorously) I TOLD you to turn left at the last planet but you chose not to! Now I'm going to miss the Cosmo Lazerium Show on the teletron, and afterwards I was planning on playing some inner-galactic backgammon, and then . . .

Zorphus: Would you please immure your oral cavity! I've spotted something in the distance.
Zulini: What might it be?
Zorphus: I don't know. I must bring our craft in closer for a better look.

Zulini: Why . . . why . . . it's immensely grotesque and teeming with life! It's . . . it's awesome!
Zorphus: (in a trance) Could it be?
Zulini: Could it be what, Zorphus?
Zorphus: (still in a trance) Yes, I do believe it most certainly is Zulini: Is what, Zorphus?
Zorphus: It's . . . it's it's

Zulini: Land the vessel, Zorphus! I would like to scrutinize this edifice much more closely. I see a landing port directly beneath us.
Zorphus: It appears to me to be an open lab area, Zulini. But I, like you, am ecstatic at the prospect of exploring this illustrious locality, so let's risk a landing.
(The spaceship) descends, crashing through trees and antennae in an effort to land in the supposed "landing port")
Stranger: (clearing throat) A-hem!
Zulini: Look Zorphus, a delegate has already been dispatched to acknowledge our arrival.
Zorphus: He must have noticed our landing.
Stranger: Well, to tell the truth, I couldn't help but notice your landing.
Zuline: Whatever do you mean?
Stranger: Well you see, I was sitting out in the open lab area when your spacecraft landed and darned near squished my entire body into the pavement. It was a narrow escape.
Zorphus: My deepest apologies. You see, we are incognizant to the familarity of this region.
Zulini: So could you please, (pardon the cliché) take us to your leader?
Stranger: Well how about that, I'm just the person you're looking for; Dr. Robert Pyle, Principal of Valhalla, the Human Enterprise.
Zorphus: Over whom, (or what) do you govern?
Pyle: Oh, the faculty members and students . . . We've got plenty of them.
Zulini: And what, exactly, do these "students" do to occupy themselves?
Pyle: A number of things. Ultimately, they're here to get an education, but besides the learning experience, they play sports, join clubs, run for offices, and other extracurricular activities.
Zulini and Zorphus: ????
Pyle: Yep, this is quite an enterprise we're running here! I guess you'll have to see it to believe it. Follow me, I'll give you a tour.

PART ONE

SPIRIT AND GOV'T

Zorphus: This entire page has an extremely chaotic vraisemblence. Perhaps you could explain this whirlwind of vivacity.
Pyle: Certainly. This "mass of disorder" that you are presently witnessing is merely Valhalla's Pep Club in action. This Pep Club, along with our bouncy cheerleaders, are responsible for igniting spirit here at the Enterprise.
Zulini: Really? And how do they accomplish this feat?
Pyle: Oh, by jumping around, waving their pom poms, and chanting wildly.
Zorphus: Hmmm . . . that must be an engrossing activity in which to view.
Pyle: Yes, it certainly is . . .
Zulini: Could you please, perchance, ventilate further on Valhalla's style of Governance?
Pyle: Well, Valhalla's Student Government is divided into three branches; the first being a twenty-five member group known as the House of Koening, (pronounced Coining). The second branch, called the House of Witengamot, (pronounced . . . well . . . ah . . . er . . . ?) is a 65-member body consisting of one representative elected from each advisorship. The third branch is an extension of Witengamot known as the Pantheon. This group consists exclusively of Freshmen who represent their otherwise isolated and separate class.
Zorphus and Zulini: ???
Pyle: You seem confused, yet it is really very simple. The next twelve pages will give you a more visual explanation if you'll just follow me . . .

FALL ACTIVITIES

Zulini: Once again, you have led us into a hodgepodge of derangement!
Zorphus: Do these haphazard emblazonments make up a substantial segment of your quotidian curriculum at the Enterprise?
Pyle: Oh no! Most of our activties take place outside of school hours and they are strictly extra-curricular. Our students seem to enjoy most of these things, with the exception of E.S.P.
Zorphus: E.S.P? What malfeasance do you find with the Extra Sensory Perception?
Pyle: I'm afraid you don't understand. You see, here at Valhalla, E.S.P. stands for Early September Programming. It is a frustrating time for many students as they attempt to arrange their own schedules.
Zulini: And do they alleviate these frustrations by wildly palpitating their bodies, as shown on the succeeding page?
Pyle: No . . . at least I don't think so. What you're viewing is an activity known as dancing, an enjoyable and popular sport.
Zulini: I see.
Zorphus: Due to my assiduous observations those attractive beings to the extreme right of this page are the "female" of your species.
Pyle: Well, not exactly. Those "attractive beings", as you call them, are actually male teachers dressed up as women! (excluding the luscious Ms. Miller, of course.)
Zulini: Hmmm . . . Wouldn't you call that sort of activity a bit peculair?
Pyle: Why no. Here at the Enterprise, we call that good clean fun.
Zulini: Your students then, must be accustomed to simplicit entertainment.
Pyle: Not true! Take a look at our homecoming, for instance.
Zorphus: Homecoming? You'll have to enucleate the meaning of that anagram.
Pyle: Homecoming is a yearly event where we celebrate the return of departed comrades with a football game, dance, and a king and queen coronation.
Zulini: Sounds scrumptious!
Zorphus: Please expound further on the subject . . . placing particular emphasis on the pentad of beauteous maidens!
Pyle: Wew! there are four pages of pictures just around the corner. Why don't I show it to you instead?
Zorphus: That would be idoneous!

FALL SPORTS

Pyle: This is Water Polo, a very popular sport at the Enterprise.
Zorphus: Such curious cranium attire . . . what purpose does it serve?
Pyle: The head gear serves primarily as identification and protection. This sport can sometimes get rough and brutal; but it's all in good fun, of course.
Zulini: Land sakes! What is that unsightly creature with the scaly epidermis and webbed appendages?
Pyle: Oh, that's just another girl from our championship Swim Team . . . each one of them is another "fish out of water." That's why they're League Champs.
Zulini: Look Zorphus, those two armored battalions are lining up on a gridded field for some sort of combat.
Pyle: No, my friends, that's just a football game. The eleven men on each team try to get the ball into the opposition's end zone for six points, or a touchdown.
Zorphus: But why are they brutally smashing their noggins together, releasing horrid shrieks of pain and otalgia?
Pyle: Who knows? Maybe they just want to stay in good physical condition. Let's move down to the tennis courts; the girls should be practicing about now.
Zorphus: 10-S? What's 10-S? I'm not familiar with that empirical formula.
Pyle: It's a game closely related to ping pong but played on a much larger scale. It can also be compared to volleyball, where the players try to hit the ball back and forth over a net without letting it touch the ground.
Zorphus: Hmmm . . . It must require a great deal of quickness and dexteriosity.
Pyle: Yes, and they have to be coordinated, too. If you look off into the distance, you can see our Cross Country runners striding over that hill.
Zorphus: Cross Country? Do they actually traverse the whole country?
Pyle: Well, no, but, they do put in a good many miles. In fact, our tough young Harriers have just completed an enjoyable 9-mile road run. Don't they look happy?
Zulini: Where we come from, such torturesome expressions of paroxym and agony usually indicate excrutiating pain and discomfort.
Pyle: Well, that's just one of the many differences between our two cultures.

"I owe most everything to football, in which I have spent the greater part of my life. And I have never lost my respect, my admiration or my love for what I consider a great game. And each Sunday, after the battle, one group savors victory, another groups lives in the bitterness of defeat. The many hurts seem a small price to have paid for having won, and there is no reason at all that is adequate for having lost. To the winner there is one hundred percent elation, one hundred percent laughter, one hundred percent fun; and to the loser the only thing left for him is a one hundred percent resolution, one hundred percent determination. And it's a game, I think, a great deal like life in that it demands that a man's personal commitment be toward excellence and be toward victory, even though you know that ultimate victory can never be completely won. Yet is must be pursued with all of one's might. And each week there's a new encounter, each year a new challenge. But all of the rings and all of the money and all of the color and all the display, they linger only in the memory. The spirit, the will to win and the will to excel, these are the things that endure and these are the qualities that are so much more important than any of the events that occasion them. And I'd like to say that the quality of any man's life has to be a full measure of that man's personal commitment to excellence and to victory regardless of what field he may be in."

The 1977 Valhalla Cross Country squads are the most dynamic in the school's history. In the short time before the yearbook deadline on this write-up, the Varsity team, led by Senior Bob Monteverde, has shown its power by placing second at the South Bay Invitational and subduing Mount Miguel, and Granite Hills. A lot of the team's success is due to Valhalla's first "1000 Mile Summer" Club. The charter members, Pat King, John Boncher and Larry Zambrano, earned their way into the honorary organization by running 1000 miles from June 1st to September 1st. The squad is rounded out by the phenomenal Junior Mike Heibing and Matt Stenzel. The entire team ran in the last year's CIF Finals, earning seventh place and are determined to be in the running for the championship this year.

In the first year of sanctioned competition, the Valhalla's Girls' Team is an instant success. Led by State Track Finalist Cheryl Flowers, the team has beaten Monte Vista, Mount Miguel, and Granite Hills in the early going. They invite all of you to come out and run for fun!

The Junior Varsity also has an exciting team that's ready to take a league championship. Things look bright for next year's Varsity with Ernie Perea, Bob Le Laurin, and Eric Richman ready to put on a Varsity vest.

The Freshmen under Coach Jerry Mills are more than impressive. Ted Hughes, Lance Sevier, and Rich Brownsberger are not only the teams leaders, they may well be the best three Freshmen in the league.

All in all, this leaves the Norsemen with the most successful overall program in the country. Good Work, Harriers!!

"We Can Because We Believe We Can"-an inspiration which has guided the Girls' Swim Team for three years, has continued to motivate this team in 1977. Clearly the strongest team we've ever had, Valhalla's girls have set the highest of all goals for this school year. While it is still early in the season and difficult to assure our success, I feel very confident in predicting this to be our most successful season. The outstanding performance and recent victory at the Coronado Pentathlon paved our way into county recognition. A victory against Grossmont will assure the League Championship, a title which has eluded Valhalla for 3 years. Yet, the feeling of companionship, togetherness and the importance of meeting every challenge as one team remains the most important outcome of the season. With the help of team captains Julie Drake, Mari Lewis, Shari Kennard and assistants Linda Meyer and Deidee Palmer, the team has already shown the qualities and determination needed to be a championship team.

For the last three years the total team record has been very impressive. The C team has yet to be defeated in dual meet competition, winning the title for 3 straight years. The Junior Varsity team has only lost one dual meet and will be striving to capture the team award this year. The Varsity team has only lost 3 dual meets, always placing second in the conference. With the addition of new blood and some outstanding incoming Freshmen, the team is capable of achieving the ultimate goal of a CIF championship. This year's team is clearly the most positive team we've ever had.

The 1977 Girls' Tennis Team has had a successful building year. With 3 of the 12 Varsity members returning from last year, we built the team from Junior Varsity and new Freshmen members. We've kept a large number of girls on the JV team to prepare for next year.

The girls' Varsity Tennis Team consists of 4 singles players and 4 doubles teams. Outstanding performers for the year include Carole Burgess playing #1 singles with a record of 23 wins and 9 losses. The doubles team of Nancy Martin and Barbara Clift, playing third and fourth Varsity doubles, had a record of 25 wins and 7 losses. Singles players along with Carole Burgess were Lori Cranmore, playing second, Jessie Russell as third, and Michelle Reed as fourth.

A good doubles team is sometimes a difficult combination to acquire. The two players must be extremely compatible and communicative to play well together. The doubles players of this year were exceptional. Along with Nancy Martin and Barbara Clift, the combinations of Audrey Hoyt and Maureen Sulivan, Christy Caldwell and Karen Mc Levie and Lori Flor and Michelle Reed, were all excellent Varsity combinations. They were very cooperative, contributed a strong sense of team unity.

The Junior Varsity Team is composed of 4 doubles teams and it is a preparatory step to Varsity. These girls showed tremendous improvement throughout the season. They should no doubt be considered the most improved JV team in the Grossmont League. They will add strength and depth to future tennis seasons.

Although tennis is thought of primarily as an individual sport, it can be effective as a team sport also. Not only do the characteristics of cooperation, communication and respect enter this sport, but tennis when working together as a team, can enhance a person's self concept and self esteem in a very positive manner. Win or lose, providing each individual with something positive that can in some way benefit them in their lifetime, is what participation in a sport is all about.

Although the girls did not do as well as they had first hoped, they still had a good season. They had their moments when they upset the 3rd ranked Granite Hills and knocked Monte Vista out of C.I.F. playoffs. There were two returning varsity players: Lu Ann Gores and Carla Galvan. The team has high hopes for next year as they are only losing two seniors.

The team consisted of: Carla Galvan-Senior, 4-year varsity player. Carla helped a lot in spiking line and serving; Jill Meyer-Senior, strong server and good ball sense; Lu Ann Gores-Junior, 2-year varsity player, strong spiking skills and strong blocking skills, also has lots of hustle; Stephanie Jerris-Junior, most consistent setter, good defense; Julie Bristol-Junior, good net player, great attitude, and lots of spirit; Whitney Lukousis-Junior, nice touch for setting, hot server; Julie Nelson-Junior, powerful spiker and server; Jackie Toom-Junior, her strong legs enable her to jump high and spike the ball well; Deryn Bailey-Junior, Deryn is one of our few all around players.

Our junior varsity players had a good learning season. They show good promise for the future.

The coaches also had a good year with the team.

The entire Volleyball Team has good potential and hope to see you next year at a few of their games.

PART TWO

Zulini: Fear not, Pyle; we have no intentions of popping your optical scanners from their sockets. You can remove your see-through protection . . . We are friendly beings.
Pyle: This is not protection. These are glasses; they help me to see better.
Zorphus: On our planet we are not accustomed to the deterioration of one's optical scanners. It must be a detestable feeling.
Pyle: Hmmm . . . it's almost 12:00. The upperclassmen will be leaving soon.
Zorphus: Why would anyone wish to depart from this fine institution?
Pyle: Oh, to go home and spend time with their families.
Zulini: Do you mean to infer that the Enterprise houses no 24-hour occupants?
Pyle: Well, legally not, but there are some yearbook staff members that seem to spend nights, as well as days, inside the building.
Zorphus: I am glad that you introduced the subject of departure, because the time has come in which Zulini and I must bid adieu and tergiversate from the scene.
Pyle: But why so soon? You've just barely arrived!
Zulini: That is a factual statement, comrade Pyle, but what more could our scanners possibly behold?
Pyle: (shocked) Why, we've barely scraped the surface of the many sports, activities and clubs that the Enterprise has to offer!
Zorphus: We apologize sincerely if our podiatrotters are scraping the surface of these colorful rugs. We have no intention of defacing your floors.
Pyle: Don't worry, the carpet is fine, it's my feelings that will be hurt if you insist on leaving so soon.
Zorphus: We do not desire to inflict pain on your person . . .
Zulini: . . . And like I stated before, we are freindly beings . . .
Zorphus . . . so we have no alternative but to remain.
Pyle: Oh good! If you'll come this way, I'll show you some of the things that we did during the Winter months . . .

PART TWO

PERFORMING ARTS

Zorphus: This certainly is a jovial-looking group of saplings.
Zulini: Are they always so blithesome?
Pyle: Just about . . . they belong to a group called "Theater Valhalla", one of the many units of our excellent Performing Arts Department. Speech and Martial Arts are just a few of the others.
Zorphus: Who are the curvaceous maidens with the multi-colored dermi-stockings? They look most ornamental.
Pyle: Those girls make up our Modern Dance Club, a very creative group of young ladies who twist and turn their bodies as a form of musical expression.
Zorphus: A form of expression that my scanners would very much like to view.
Pyle: A mutual desire, my friend, but unfortunately these girls perform in just one show a year. Our instrumental groups, however, can be heard anywhere from concerts to sporting events.
Zulini: Hmmm . . . they must play clangorously loud.
Pyle: Valhalla's Marching Band is one particular group that receives a large amount of exposure during football games. With the help of the lovely Norsettes and Drum Majors, Valhalla's band performs halftime ceremonies that never fail to be colorful and entertaining.
Zulini: Why are so many of them sucking on those odd shaped decanters with the shiny, chrome-plated tinctures? Are they thirsty?
Pyle: No, No, No! They're not sucking on those instruments! They're blowing through them and producing sounds. The drummers beat on large cylinders and maintain rhythm. Another large portion of the Performing Arts Department is made up of our talented singers, who in turn make up the Ensemble and Choir.
Zorphus: Singers? Are they the vocalists who produce euphonic contrapuntal compositions by rapidly undulating their laryngal tubes?
Pyle: Yes, and they sing well, too, Who knows, maybe one of these budding talents will someday grow up and blossom into another Enrico Caruso or Barbra Streisand.
Zulini: what are they, plants?
Pyle: No, not exactly, but I'll explain that to you later. As for now, let's move along; there's so much more I'd like to show you . . .

PART TWO

WINTER ACTIVITIES

Pyle: These pictures are from a mock wedding held by our Family Relations Class. The happy couple was Sandy Schmidt and John Findel.
Zorphus: A wedding? You mean the actual formality which a couple goes through to begin the institution of marriage?
Pyle: Yep, and it was quite authentic; right down to the musical entertainment and weeping spectators.
Zulini: They look most stunning in their formal regalia.
Pyle: If you want to see some fine clothing, take a look at our Christmas Dance. Our students really got dressed up for this wondrous event in downtown San Diego.
Zulini: I don't think my optical scanners have ever observed such a large variety of slickly dressed Comrades!
Pyle: Next my friends, I would like to show you the float; one of our proudest achievements this year. It was entered in the Mother Goose Parade under the theme of "Peter, Peter Pumpkin Eater".

Zulini: It appears to be a beautifully designed structure, Comrade Pyle, but I am compelled to question you about this celebrated festivity. Is it customary for all institutions to adorn these structures in a colorful array of blossoms for the sole worship of this giant waterfowl, Mother Goose?
Pyle: Actually, it's a parade. Many bands and floats get together and move in a straight line through the center of beautiful downtown El Cajon.
Zulini: Who are those proletariats engaged in various forms of colloquy and tete-a-tete? They appear most lucid and calm.
Pyle: Then they must be very good actors and actresses! You see, those are students participating in "Play it Again, Sam", the Enterprise's first production of the year.
Zulini: You mean they are merely simulating every-day life for the diversion of others?
Pyle: That's right.
Zorphus: What a fascinating activity! Are there anymore of these "productions" in which we can view?
Pyle: Certainly! But first, let me show you some other interesting things. . .

WINTER SPORTS

Zorphus: Oh, how grand! Some more pages filled with strenuous activity.
Pyle: This game you are seeing is called basketball. There are five players on each team and points are scored by placing a ball through the opponent's basket.
Zulini: Those hooplike structures are considered baskets? They appear more like instruments used for the capture of marine life. However, the lower portions have been removed.
Zorphus: This sport is very interesting, Comrade Pyle, but what my scanners are presently beholding is much more enthralling!
Zulini: (Stunned) I am stunned! Male species actually engage in close intimate contact with each other? I thought this type of material violated section 5.2 of the Official School Publications Rule Book.
Pyle: No, Zorphus! These are just wrestlers. They battle their opponents by using various moves and holds. It is an ancient style of fighting.
Zorphus: It still seems unfathomable as to why anyone would be inclined to grasp a perspiring gladiator in leotards while in a musty and malodorous room.
Zulini: I see a "cheerleader" on the tillage vociferating encouragement to a striped battalion. What type of sport are they engaged in?
Pyle: It's called soccer.
Zorphus: Sock her? Surely they do not abuse that stunning young lady by socking and striking her!
Pyle: No, no, no! The players score points by kicking and dribbling a ball about the field with their feet, trying to get it into the opposition's net.
Zorphus: That seems much more logical.
Pyle: Let us move to the softball field.
Zulini: Softball? Does this sport require a long, ligneous stave which is used to strike a mocerated orb into a gramineous field intersected by padded slabs and a pentagonal spangle?
Pyle: Well . . . ah . . . er . . . I guess so. Look we're running out of room, so why don't I show it to you instead, O.K.? . . .

The 1977-78 Norsemen Basketball team had one of the toughest schedules in the county this past year, as they faced seven out of the top ten teams in the county. Although their win-loss record doesn't indicate it, they competed very well against these teams, losing only by 11 points or less in five of those games.

The Norsemen were successful in the Mount Helix Invitional Basketball Tournament in December. They captured the Consolation Championship with a 64-51 win over Pioneer High School of Whittier. Bill Burgess, who led Valhalla during the three-game tournament, was named to the all-tournament team.

Offensively, the Norsemen were very well balanced this year. Bill Burgess, Dave Dekock, Joel Fine and John Mullen all averaged 9 points per game. Dave Dekock held the best single game performance with 25 points scored. The leading rebounder this past year was Bill Burgess, with Scott Herr, Norm Roach and Dave Schetselaar contributing greatly.

The basketballers have their eyes on sixth place in the league standings as they enter the last month of the season. If they continue to work hard and play together that goal is easily obtainable.

During the past three years, the Valhalla Wrestling teams have been building a program that could be competitive in the San Diego CIF Section. The present Varsity team members were the undefeated Junior Varsity and Freshmen teams during those three years. These teams, along with outstanding individuals, established standards for the future teams to follow. This year the Varsity has reaped a harvest of success from those past efforts.

The Varsity team was led to a winning season by seniors Paul Esquibel, John Findel and Bryan Welsh, backed by leading scorers, junior Bob Taylor, and sophomore Ron Boehmke.

The Norsemen Wrestlers take tremendous pride in the fact that though they were picked pre-season favorite to finish last in the Grossmont League, they were continually in the top 10 of the County and established a 5-0 record before a loss, establishing themselves as contendors for the 1978 Grossmont League Championship. Perhaps an even more eventful moment of the season was the 27-23 victory over Monte Vista, ending their winning streak of 32 dual meets.

Paul Esquisbel has been the outstanding Valhalla wrestler, establishing himself as CIF heavyweight contendor for the championship. Paul was undefeated in the league and champion of three tournamnets.

If possible, an even more positive note would be that Valhalla has a young team, with only four seniors starting regularly, that has reached for and achieved success before its predicted time. The Varsity is supported by a Junior Varsity team that has only one dual meet defeat, and has been the champion and runner-up of two late season tournaments, producing eight individual champions. The Freshmen team, led by Coach Tim Buzbee, have been consistent in placing in the top three of this season's Freshmen tournaments. These Freshmen will lend strength in the development of future successful Valhalla wrestling teams.

The success of the season is proudly shared, not just among the team members, but with the Mat Girls, Cheerleaders, faculty and student body of Valhalla High School.

This year's Varsity Soccer squad is by far the strongest that Valhalla has fielded under Coach Logan's tenure. Well assited by Roger Reinecke, Logan's squad is joint favorite to win the CIF playoffs for the third straight year.

Strength and ability in the key central positions have given the team a formidable look. Seniors Jim Smidt and Brian Macky alternate in goal and really challenge each other's ability. Steve Atchison and Kiko Salazar, also seniors, are as good as any back pair in the San Diego area. Gary Reinecke, sharing the title of team captain with Atchison, has managed to escape the injuries that have plagued him in the past and is one of the standouts in the entire CIF section.

Up front, 6'1" Jim Daniels has shown us why he was on the U.S. National Jr. Team last summer. Add to this the dribbling skills of Marty Sanger, the emergence of Dave Busch as an outstanding fullback and the solid work of Tom Gonzales, Dave Holmes and Jim Nicolau and you have an excellent combination.

With an eye to the future, (we lose all of the above players this year), Logan has been grooming some promising freshmen. Renato Capobianco has positively sparked on the right wing and Bobby Mundinger, until his unfortunate knee injury, showed us why he'll be quite a player in the years to come. Pat Atchison and Lance Sevier are also two for the future.

The burden of responsibility next year will fall on juniors Russ Kimler and 'Chooch' Sanger, who, with Bobby Gomez, a sophomore, are valuable assets to the team.

Desire and experience personifies the 1977-78 Girls' Softball teams. The Varsity team, led by captain Ramona White, returned this year with seven returning team members from last year's third place team. Defensively the team ranks with the best in the league and currently is showing evidence indication of making it into the CIF playoffs.

The Junior Varsity team currently holds onto sole possession of first place in the league competition. Led by team captains Jamie Hogue and Whitney Lekousis, the team has been awesome as they compete in a very respectable league. Experience plus the addition of several outstanding freshmen is an encouraging indication for continued success for seasons ahead.

Zulini: Why are those "students" hammering fervently on those large, metal coffers? Are they what you would consider "juvenile delinquents?"

Pyle: Well not exactly . . . although we do try to discourage our students from pounding on the vending machines. You see, sometimes the machines tend to steal your money.

Zorphus: So the machines are the culprits! Why doesn't someone apprehend the pilfering purlioners?

Pyle: Because the students actually give them the money. Normally they expect food in return for their coins, but sometimes the machines get stubborn and refuse to give them something to eat. It's not really stealing . . . it's greediness!

Zulini: Why don't they purchase their comestibles from a more reliable source?

Pyle: They would, but the vending machines are all that we have.

Zorphus: What sort of victuals do these machines serve?

Pyle: Oh . . . yogurt, milk, ice cream bars . . .

Zulini: Ice cream bars! Aren't they filled with BHA and BHT, Lecithin, Vanillin, and various other other dangerous emulsifiers?

Pyle: Yes, and they also have a lot of harmful preservatives. We call these edibles "junk food", and the Enterprise has every kind to choose from.

Zorphus: Can you not go anywhere in order to obtain a more nourishing meal?

Pyle: Well, many people go to the Orange Outpost.

Zulini: Outpost? Isn't that the name of a place used in ancient times for the purpose of carrying out bodily functions?

Pyle: No, you're thinking of a similar-sounding word. The Orange Outpost is a student store run primarily by members of a merchandising club known as DECA. The store sells everything from books to records, but its large selection of palate-pleasing health foods is a definite money maker.

Zorphus: Mmmm . . . sounds delectable! I would very much like to savor one of these palatable pasturages in my oral cavity.

Zulini: Wait until we get back, Zorphus, and I will make you a good, home-depressurized meal.

Pyle: If you're interested in good food, you should drop in on a meeting of our Future Homemakers of America. Not only do these girls cook delicious meals, but they also learn the many domestic chores associated with the modern homemaker.

Zorphus: Where we come from, chores for the modern homemaker are reserved for a computer . . . these female species must have the minds of an android!

Pyle: Well if they do, then they probably also belong to the Math Team or the Math and Computer Club. These two groups are designed specifically for our more intellectually capable students.

Zorphus: Now that sounds appealing! Please outline this club further!

Pyle: (ignoring Zorphus) . . . Moving right along, we have the Bicycle Club. This is an organization that is very near and dear to me because "Yours Truly" is the club's advisor.

Zulini: I would very much like to meet this "Yours Truly" . . . he sounds like a very dedicated person.

Zorphus: I don't think that I could ever ride such a contraption. Do these "students" actually ride bikes across the land or is the Cycling Club merely a fan club dedicated to the invention of the bicycle?

Pyle: No, they ride these bikes around the city for fun and exercise.

Zorphus: It looks even more difficult than dancing!

Pyle: . . . For our students with "cosmopolitan" tastes, we have the I-Club.

Zulini: I take it that you are a member of this club, Comrade Pyle, since you are familiar with the deterioration of one's optical scanners.

Pyle: This is not the Eye Club, it's the I-Club! The letter "I" is merely an abbreviation for the word "international". This group examines the styles and customs of foreign lands, and its most prestigious member is Frank Harries, our exchange student from Germany.

Zorphus: Is he a malevolent foreigner?

Pyle: Oh no! Frank is friendly and sincere. I'll introduce you to him later.

Zulini: That would be most conciliatory of you.

Pyle: Along these same lines, we have the French Club.

Zorphus: Isn't that an activity between two consenting adults in which the maxilliary regions of the cranium are pressed together in an effort to stimulate loving feelings towards one another?

Pyle: Yes, that is one meaning of the word, but here at Valhalla French Club members meet and discuss the country of France while talking only in French.

Zulini: Who are those odd-looking people with the acutely shaped craniums and long, skinny podiatrotters?

Pyle: Those are skiers from our Ski Club. They are wearing ski hats and those flat and narrow boards attached to their feet are called skis. These skis are used to slide down steep banks of white powder, or snow.

Zorphus: Is this some sort of survival technique?

Pyle: Why no! Skiing is just plain fun!

Zulini: Hmmm . . . You Earthlings certainly have bizarre methods of obtaining enjoyment . . .

Pyle: Out there in that large, handsome, building, our Future Farmers of America are housed.

Zulini: Do you have them stationed out there due to the malodorous stench of their beasts?

Pyle: No, they're located out there because that is the only place with room for smelly animals.

PART THREE

OTHER CLUBS

Pyle: These kids work very hard to become farmers because agriculturists make up the back-bone of our Nation.

Zulini: I apologize for making sport of their animals.

Pyle: The next two organizations I would like to show you are K-VAL and the Saga Staff.

Zorphus: Aren't they involved with some sort of communication with the students?

Pyle: Yes. K-VAL is a radio station which broadcasts music during the break for the enjoyment of all.

Zulini: Isn't the Saga Staff a group of "students" who are responsible for printing that fine periodical known as "The Saga?" I've seen students all over the campus anxiously viewing them with their scanners.

Pyle: Yes, they toil laboriously to collect all bits of important news so it can be presented to others.

Zorphus: Such devotion and adherence!

Pyle: The Enterprise even offers clubs to our eager young scholars with thirsts for knowledge. C.S.F. and the Chemistry Surf Club are two such organizations.

Zorphus: The Chemistry Surf Club? What an odd combination of antipodal activities.

Zulini: Don't they try to enhance their knowledge of chemistry while simultaneously enjoying the many recreational activities that your planet has to offer?

Pyle: Yep, that's the group!

Zorphus: Earlier, you mentioned something about C.S.F. Are your "students" interested in Sulfuric Californium.

Pyle: No, no, no . . . I was referring to C.S.F., the California Scholarship Federation. This is a large group of extremely intelligent students who participate only in the most intellectual of activities since their primary concern is to achieve high grade-point averages.

Zulini: Really? What do they do?

Pyle: Oh . . . they go on field trips to the Zoo or Disneyland . . .

Zorphus: I believe I have heard enough, Comrade Pyle. Please, continue the tour . . .

MEET FRANK HARRIES

Hi, my name is Frank Harries. I come from a town of about 350,000 inhabitants named Bielefeld in the northern part of West Germany. I am 18 years old, and I have finished the 11th grade in my high school. Because of our different education systems, I have two more years of school left. When I go back to Germany, I don't get credit for this year at Valhalla. Therefore, I can take classes like Drama, Autoshop and Publications. I enjoy this school very much, for it offers a lot of opportunities. I am involved with the Martial Arts Club and the International Club. It seems to me that the whole school is a community in itself, with its different activities. I will miss them when I go back to Germany after my graduation in June. I have many other interests outside school. I enjoy sports, playing cards, political discussions, music, dancing, trancendental meditation, and being together with friends.

Here in the United States, I live with the Conger family in Spring Valley. I have two host sisters and one host brother besides my nice parents. This is quite a new experience for me, because in Germany I am the only child in my family. Although both countries are very similar, I have had a lot of different experiences.

I am very happy that I have had the chance to come to San Diego. I enjoy very much to visit places San Diego has to offer. This AFS year gives me the wonderful opportunity to learn about a new country, its people and customs, to see different ways of life and living, to meet new people and to make new friends.

Thank you everyone who made this year in San Diego at Valhalla enjoyable. I will remember this as a most unforgettable part of my life.

PART THREE

SPRING ACTIVITIES

Pyle: To your right, we have our Modern Dance Show "Crystal Images", and the Coronation of this year's Wrestling Queen and her court.

Zorphus: How beautious she appears in that statuesque pose!

Zulini: But why is she attired in such bizzare regalia with striped calf-claspers and a googolled overcoat?

Pyle: No, no, no! That's not the queen, that's the wrestler who escorted her!

Zulini: And what, may I query, is a wrestler?

Pyle: I'll explain that to you later, but first I would like to show you some shots from another one of our Drama Productions.

Zorphus: Hmmm . . . such an extensive array of participants! By what moniker did this artistic creation go by?

Pyle: The One-Acts.

Zulini: Which one acts?

Pyle: Well, they all act!

Zorphus: Then why did you say only one acts?

Pyle: The entire show was called the "One-Acts". Four separate casts got together and performed four different acts . . . That's all I meant to say . . .

Zulini: You will have to vocalize in an exonerated manner, Comrade Pyle. Your phraseologies are toilsome to decipher.

Pyle: I'll try to speak more clearly in the future.

Zorphus: Who are those pastry-panoplied people with the acidulated expressions?

Pyle: Those are contestants in our cake-eating contest; an activity staged to celebrate Valhalla's third birthday.

Zulini: Do you Earthlings normally consume sustenance through the nasal septum?

Pyle: Oh no! It just appears that way because the participants were eating quite quickly.

Zulini: Ooh . . . I'd like a more intrinsic look at that activity!

Pyle: No problem, just follow me . . .

SPRING

Pyle: Now I'd like to show you some of the sports that took place during the spring months. Many of these sports, such as swimming, basketball, and baseball were played earlier in the year by the opposite sex.

Zulini: I am greatly disheartened! I was hoping to view some divergent games, but all that you have to bestow upon us are reproductions!

Zorphus: Do any new sports materialize during the spring-time mensal?

Pyle: of course. There' track, golf, and gymnastics.

Zorphus: Jim Nastiks? Is he some sort of athletic advocate similar to the patriarch of football, Pop Warner?

Pyle: Oh no! Gymnastics is a popular girls' sport at the Enterprise involving bars, mats, beams and horses.

Zulini: I find this sport rather hard to fathom, Comrade Pyle. Do the gymnasts ride horses over beams and spend time at bars?

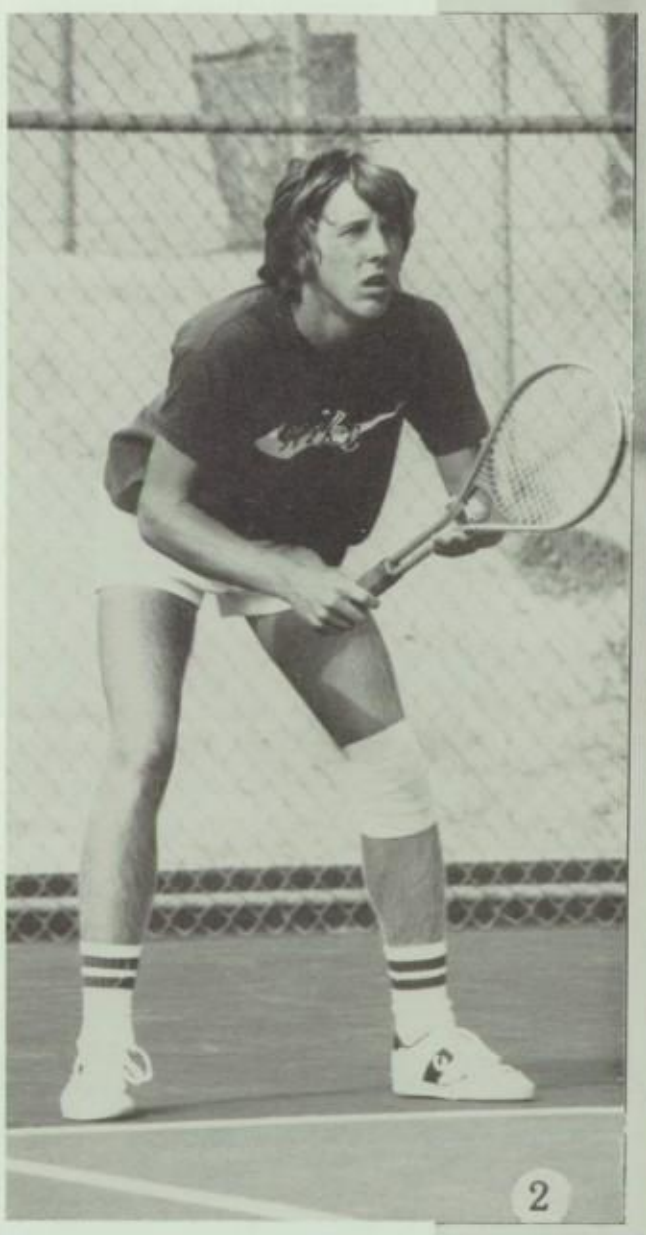
Pyle: Maybe you'll understand Track and Field a little better. This sport is divided into running events and field events. The field events include such things as the long jump, high jump, and discus.

Zulini: Most of thos events are self-explanatory. The "discuss", however, leaves me in a state of befuddlement.

Pyle: How so?

Zulini: I do not see why "discussing" something would be considered a sport. Shouldn't this type of verbalizing be a classification of speech?

1



2

Pyle: The DISCUS is a round and flat piece of hard rubber resembling a plate. The athlete spins around several times and hurls it into the air, striving for height and distance.

Zulini: How foolish of me! I assumed that the pair of vocables were homonyms, when, in actuality, they are totally contradistinctive terms with dissimilar denotations and orthographies.

Pyle: Enough grammar! I still want to show you our championship golf team.

Zorphus: Golf?

Pyle: Golf is a sport that involves hitting a tiny white ball into a hole. It requires a minimal amount of energy but a lot of concentration.

Zorphus: Now that's a sport for me . . . a brain-game that doesn't tend to over-fatique.

Pyle: Come now, Zorphus, I'm sure you'll enjoy them all . . . once you've seen them . . .

The Varsity Baseball Team has 12 returning lettermen this season. Two of the top 3 hitters in the Grossmont League are back. They are John Mullen and Darren Mann. The experience of these returning players plus a transfer short stop from New York, and several J.V. players should make for a fine season. Valhalla should finish strong in the league. Four pitchers, all with experience, will carry the mound duties. Three of our infielders are returning, all outfielders are back. We finished fifth in the League last year. We should finish well above that making the C.I.F. Playoffs. Our hitting and pitching should be strong. If our defense is tough we will be right at the top.

In the short history of Valhalla Track and Field there have been a remarkable number of outstanding performers. This year's squad promises to add to that distinguished list. Leading the way on the men's team will be nationally-ranked shot putter and discus thrower Matt Gauthier. With the help of his coach Larry Pear, Matt returns this year as the top high schooler in the nation. Other athletes that will corner a spot in Norse history will be the Vavra brothers, Mark and Kurt. Mark is one of the fastest low hurdlers in the county and leads the team in the highs. His brother Kurt is an outstandin hurdler in his own right and also challenges the school records in both the high jump and the triple jump. Also showing promise in this year's track picture is our mile relay team being led by Corky Retson, Rob Kastan, Rich Reidman, and Mark Vavra. This team showed its promise early by being invited to run the Jack-in-the-Box Invitational. With the aid of new coach Jim Franksen, we expect to see them on the All-CIF list. Rounding out our list of stars are several runners from the distance areas. Being helped by Coach Jerry Mills and paced by All-CIF distance man Robert Monteverde, men like Pat King, John Boncher, and Ken Williams can look forward to league championships in several events.

The Girl's team is not without its stars and they include some great ones. Topping the list is state finalist in the mile Cheryl Flowers. Cheryl's Junior year should find her as the top-ranked runner in the county and surely no lower than her third place finish of last year at the state meet. Also showing greatness are sprinter Barb Clift, thrower Cathy Coleman, and distance people like Janet Silveira and Caren Cummings.

As our list of top athletes grows, so will the memories of an eventful season. The team hopes that it has given you something to remember from the spring of 1978.

Our golf team this year is extremely strong. Having won the league last year, and having lost no one to graduation, we have everyone back from that championship team.

Robert Spiegler, last year's most valuable player, is undoubtedly the team's best player. He is always finding ways to improve himself through constant practice. This becomes apparent when he plays, since one can never tell how he is doing by the look on his face. Bob is insatiable.

Dave DeKock is playing the role of a leader for the second year in a row as the team's captain. He has the most match experience, having played in more tournaments than anyone from Valhalla.

Brent Hillier and Bob Pastore are two Juniors who also have a lot of match experience. Brent and Bob are not in the habit of bragging about their golfing abilities, but both are indispensible, excellent golfers, and very modest individuals. Mike Long, a Sophomore, joins the above four players in having teed it up in the CIF playoffs last year. Jim Hall, a newcomer to Valhalla golf, is sure to break into the starting lineup, and has the ability to beat anyone at any time.

Other returning lettermen are the long-hitting Mark Villarino, the gambling hustler Joel Fine, and the precise, one-putting Dave Lloyd. Dave Reed and Stu Wells, two other long-hitters, are making strong bids for positions this year.

Valhalla is forming somewhat of a dynasty in golf. We are very confident about our success, and our only problem should be that of getting our oversized heads through the shoulder straps of our golf bags.

The 1978 Norsemen Swimming teams will have provided the Valhalla community with plenty of excitement. Led by seniors Tim Bottger (sprints), Jon "Ohio" Durant (sprints), Mark Fox (backstroke), Dave Meyers (butterfly), Craig Sandlin (butterfly and I.M.), Bob Satterlee (breaststroke), and Gerry Sapper (diving) this team will attempt to defend their League Championship. As of this date, the Norsemen have already posted an impressive victory over a strong Grossmont team. Outstanding performances by Sam Pickslay (11), Tim Shumate (11), Bill Cossolias (10), and Jim Gallup (10) have certainly set a trend of competiveness that will aid the entire team throughout the season.

The Norsemen have scheduled perennial powers Fallbrook, Vista, Patrick Henry (1977 San Diego C.I.F. Champions), and Hilltop. However, the ultimate aim of the Norsemen will be preparing for the League and C.I.F. Finals. The medley relay team of Tim Shumate (backstroke), Sam Pickslay (breaststroke), Jim Gallup (butterfly), and Tim Bottger (freestyle) have already established themselves as the team to beat in the C.I.F. by post-an impressive early season time of 1:43.2, 4 seconds from High School All American consideration time.

The Junior Varsity squad will be aiming for their third consecutive Grossmont League dual meet championship. A talented group of Sophomores will push the Juniors for top seeding in the conference meet. In addition, the 1978 Freshmen team will be shooting for an unprecedented fourth consecutive League championship.

The 1978 Valhalla Girl's Basketball Team could be characterized as young and inexperienced. This years' Norseladies are in a rebuilding stage as third year guard Tammy House returns as the only Senior on the squad. Juniors Lu Ann Gores (1977 Honorable Mention All Grossmont League), Julie Bristol, Carol Metcalfe, and Jenny Bentley are the only other players with Varsity experience. The remainder of the team includes Juniors Kerry Bullock, Lori Hamelehle, Karen McLevie, Carolyn Reed, Stephanie Jerris and Sophomores Diane Stone, Lori Linn and Liz Newell.

The team makes up for their lack of experience and size by playing an aggresive, hustling, pressure defense. Teamwork will be emphasized throughout the season. A passing game offense allows scoring opportunities to be shared by several players. Against zone defenses, quick and accurate ball movement is encouraged.

The girls work hard in daily practice knowing success in games depends upon the understanding and the execution of the basic fundamentals. Mental discipline and physical conditioning are also highly stressed. They work to develop an attitude which will help them to achieve their goals.

Hard work and dedication to excellence is emphasized so that the highest level of competitive play can be attained.

Coach Dennis Biletnikoff

NISSEN

The Girl's Gymnastic Program continues to strengthen each year. Hopes are high to better last year's record of second in the Grossomont League, and fourth in the county.

Girl's Gymnastics is divided into three teams: Varsity Optional (highly skilled), Varsity Compulsory, and Junior Varsity. There are four competitive areas in Girls' Gymnastics: Floor exercise, Balance Beam, Uneven Bars, and Vault.

The floor exercise routines combine tumbling skills, dance moves and balance skills in a creative sequence to music. The routine must be flowing, while allowing the gymnast to show her individual styling and personality.

Balance Beam is especially important as the gymnasts perform their routine on a beam four inches wide and four feet off the ground. Outstanding performers in Floor Exercise and Balance Beam are Optionals Norma Brullo, Julie Drake, Joan Lenihan, Laurie Madsen, and Chris Panek, and in Varsity Compulsory, La Rae Landers, Lorri Naud, Kim Hollingsworth, Becca Hess, Tory Gauthier, Gretchen Belcher, and Vicki Frank.

In the uneven bars, it often takes an entire season to perform a particulary difficult skill. The routine must be flowing and without stops.

In vaulting the margin for error is very small, as in the uneven bars. Outstanding performers in Vaulting and Bars are optionals Norma Brullo, Julie Drake, and Lynn Raney, and Varsity Compulsories Linda Satterlee, Linda Taylor, and Kathy Roberts.

The Most outstanding gymnast is the All-Around Gymnast, or the one that can compete in all four events. Outstanding Optional All-Arounds are Norma Brullo (1977 CIF All-Around Champion), and Julie Drake. Outstanding Varsity Compulsory All-Arounds are Lorri Naud, Linda Taylor, and La Rae Landers.

Valhalla has a fantastic JV team with more potential than ever before, and the Freshman show tremendous potential with Jean Batman, Jarita Buckles, Carol Madsen, and Kris Sundstrom, who will be Varsity members, and Gail McKenna, Lisa Stewart, Diane Cavan, Pricilla Esquibel, and Karin Howard as outstanding JV members.

PART FOUR

Zulini: Lord Zeus! Who are all those decapitated specimens lined up in horizontal and diagonal queues?
Zorphus: They appear most auspicious in spite of thier torso-less state.
Pyle: (chuckling) Chuckle, chuckle, chuckle . . . What you are looking at my friends, are photographs of some of the members of our Freshmen class. Most of them have complete bodies, although they don't appear in the pictures.
Zorphus: Freshmen? Is that an appellative applied to some sort of echelon or paramountcy?
Pyle: Actually, the word Freshmen is a classification given to a certain grade-level or rank. Students in this grade are commonly refered to as ninth graders, (not to mention a few less flattering things), and most of them are new to the Enterprise.
Zulini: How so?
Pyle: They are required to graduate from other enterprises known as junior high or middle schools before they can attend Valhalla. They just completed this requirement last June.
Zulini: Do they adapt easily to these newfangled surroundings?
Pyle: Surprisingly, most of them do, (excluding the few that you see swinging from the sound baffles, of course).
Zorphus: What are the other grade-level classifications?
Pyle: After the Freshmen, we have our Sophomore class, an eager young group of tenth-graders typified by Driver's Ed, Social Living and American Studies.
Zulini: And who may they be? Leaders of the class?
Pyle: Oh no! Those are just classes in which Sophomores can usually be found. Come, I'll show you the American Studies area.
(The trio arrives at the north end of the Media Center.)
Well, what do you think?
Zorphus: Think about what, Comrade Pyle? All that we see is a diminutive group of students clustered innocently about some sort of conveyor.
Pyle: Ah, but there is much more here than what meets the eye. In the back room, a lecture is in progress, and in the theater a film is being shown. Three seminars are presently being offered, and readings are available for the students who prefer to study independently. You see, it's all part of our American Studies program, where the students themselves have the option of planning their own schedules. The Hamanities and Biology departments are utilizing similar systems.
Zorphus: What a unique and innovative conception! Back home, our young scholars are compelled to acquire knowledge by our preadamic computer modules and video learning centers. It is quiet archaic when compard to your imaginative system!
Pyle: (speechless) Jeepers! . . . I don't know what to say . . .
Zulini: Perhaps you could complete your delineations of the various grade-levels found at the Enterprise. Using the law of consecutivity, I safely assumed that the eleventh grade follows the tenth grade, but I am inquisitive as to what autonym this next assemblage goes by.
Pyle: We call them Juniors. They are a hardy bunch of puplis who tend to live each day with great anticipation.
Zulini: Why is that Comrade Pyle?
Pyle: Because next fall they will become Seniors! The highest and most prestigious classification of all.
Zorphus: What makes these Seniors so distinctive?
Pyle: I'll explain that to you later, but first I would like to tell you about our unusual daily schedule . . . it's totally different from anywhere else in this area.
Zulini: In our educational system back home, certain courses are only required to converge on a tri-hebdomadal basis, leaving a longer interim for concentrated rumination during an elongated period.
Pyle: Things are different here at the Enterprise. On Monday, all classes meet, but on Tuesday through Friday, only three classes are held during the day. This creates a longer instructional time that is favorable to both teachers and students.
Zulini: I couldn't have stated it better, Comrade Pyle.
Pyle: I think I've talked enough about the various grade-levels . . . how would you like to see them?
Zorphus: That would be most amiable.
Zulini: I hope it will not take an interminable amount of time, Comrade Pyle, for we must depart shortly.
Zorphus: By the way, Pyle, how many students occupy the Enterprise?
Pyle: Roughly . . . 2,469 . . .

Zorphus: Thank you so much for inviting us to dine with you, Comrade Pyle.

Zulini: We are most famished!

Pyle: It's my pleasure, space cadets . . . I'm certain that the seniors will enjoy your company at their banquet.

Zulini: Seniors . . . I know what they are . . . they're men from that foreign dominion known as Mexico.

Pyle: No, my friends, That's a Senor! Here at the Enterprise, a Senior is a person in their final year of high school. Many plan on going to college after their graduation.

Zorphus: Graduation? You'll have to explicate that term.

Pyle: Well, graduation is a ceremony held at the end of the school year where the Seniors wear orange and white robes and square hats. They walk up to a platform where I'm standing and I give them a piece of paper called a diploma. This is a certificate that shows they've completed high school.

Zulini: That certainly sounds like a rip-roaring activity. I do hope we're in attendance.

Zorphus: Does much cheering and frivolity permeate through the crowd?

Pyle: Sometimes . . . but the most common sounds are those of mothers crying and restless children fidgeting in their seats.

Zorphus: How could one cry at such a festive occasion? These earth women leave me in a state of bewilderment.

Pyle: You know, these seniors are very special because they're the first four year graduating class from Valhalla. When these youngsters graduate, every last one of the Enterprise's original students will be gone.

Zulini: Aren't there a few lucky souls who get the opportunity to return and repeat some classes which were previously not passed? It seems grievous that all the original pioneers should be compelled to depart.

Pyle: Amazingly enough, most of our graduates are eager to leave!

Zorphus: Enough nasalation, Comrade Pyle! . . . My soupcon sensers are eagerly awaiting the prospect of popping some tasty tidbits into my oral cavity.

Pyle: I don't know about you, but I'm hungry! Luckily, we've made it to the restaurant.

Zulini: Are you sure that the "seniors" won't feel uncomfortable with our presence?

Pyle: No, not at all! Basically, they're non-violent types.

Zorphus: (inside the restaurant) The "seniors" seem to be very dissatisfied with their meals. It looks as though they are protesting by undulating and gyrating their bodies.

Pyle: Don't get upset, Zorphus, they're just dancing again.

Zulini: They never get enough, do they?

Pyle: Dancing is actually good for the body and it's an easy and fun way to exercise. In fact, our seniors enjoy dancing so much that at the end of the school year they hold a Senior Prom. This is probably the last dance that they will ever attend during their years at Valhalla.

Zorphus: Is that the gala occasion in which the participants adorn themselves in their most diligent garb and pretend that they're adults at an upper-class gathering?

Pyle: Yes, but our mature seniors never try to mimic anyone . . . they are very sophisticated, and subdued adults in their own right. That is why they usually go to Disneyland after graduation or some other place of pleasure.

Zulini: Disneyland? I've heard of that place before. Isn't it the park where one can pay a small fee and experience the adventure of their choice?

Pyle: Yes, that's the place. Disneyland is as much a part of our American society as hot dogs, blue jeans, '53 Chevies, and your favorite, dancing!

Zorphus: Such an uncivilized society . . .
Zulini: I overheard someone say that "senior standouts" are going to be announced. May I inquire as to the meaning of that phrase?
Pyle: Well, each senior votes on 17 categories and elects one class member to fill each position. The categories include such titles as; Best Personality, Most Scholarly, Most Likely to Succeed, and many others.
Zulini: I'd think that winning one of these titles would be a tremendous boost to one's ego. Is that actually the case Comrade Pyle?
Pyle: Not really. Most of the modest seniors at the Enterprise don't have any ego problems . . . the Senior Standouts are merely intended to be fun.
Zorphus: That is most commendable. Back on our planet, any such recognition to one's being would result in overwhelming pride.
Zulini: Yes, I must say that you have a most reputable group of seniors here.
Pyle: Would you like to meet them?
Zulini: Certainly: Where would one go for such an encounter (of the third kind)?
Pyle: Nowhere . . . I've got them all right here. Let me introduce them to you; one by one . . .

Remember when? Valhalla High School at the Granite Hills campus? The class of 1978 was the real beginning of the great experiment. Humanities I, with a different schedule each six weeks and a new system, too! Remember the tag boards and the egg cartons? Wow, what an introduction!

Then we moved into our new building. What a challenge! Valhalla's first four year class. We were great then, and we have been getting better ever since.

There is something special about being the first to try something or to do something for the first time. We can be so proud of the class of 1978-they have set the standard for many classes yet to come-they are number one!

Who organized the first class picnic? Who had the first Debate Olympics? The first World Famous Culture Fair? The Renaissance Fair? American Studies? The best sports teams in the school's history? Who raised more money for their class treasury than any other Valhalla senior class? Who had the greatest Senior Standouts? The best prom?

THE CLASS OF '78, THAT'S WHO!!!

PART FIVE

FACULTY AND ADS

Zorphus: I am astounded! The students in these pictures are for more aged and withered than those stunning youngsters on the preceding pages. Are these elderly students members of a post-graduate class?

Pyle: Oh, no! These are members of our faculty. Along with myself, they keep the facility operating smoothly so that the students can obtain a proper education.

Zulini: Hmmm . . . perhaps you could expound further on this subject.

Pyle: Certainly. First we have the Administration. This includes Mr. Maw, Ms. Smith and myself. Their primary duty is discipline while I take care of business procedures. Next we have the Counseling Staff, our Business, Math and Science Department, and the Humanities Staff. In Humanities, english and history are taught.

Zorphus: Being instructed in the dialect of your people would be quite beneficial to beings such as ourselves. It seems we communicate on different levels.

Pyle: That certainly is evident . . . but we do encourage our students to learn the languages of other lands. We employ foreign language teachers for this purpose.

Zulini: I'd think that only the most erudite scholars could be language instructors. On our planet, we use a multilinguistrograph to teach different methods of bilingual communication.

Pyle: Our modern Media Department deals expertly with communication. This is due mainly to our fine library.

Zulini: Library? Is that a room in which you utilize for the accumulation of librettos and various dissertations?

Pyle: Yes, and a lot of books are kept there, too! . . . Unified Arts, Physical Education, and our Classified Employees complete the faculty section.

Zorphus: (yawning) I suppose we will be compelled to view them individually.

Pyle: That's right . . .

Zulini: Your tour has been most entertaining, Comrade Pyle, but it is time we departed for home.

Pyle: But there is so much more to see! There's the Queen of Hearts Dance, the Dance Marathon, the Prom, Graduation Ceremonies . . .

Zorphus: That sounds most intriguing, Pyle, but we wish to avoid the heavy meteor showers expected at noontide.

Pyle: I understand . . . Say, I've got a great idea! Why don't you take some of our students with you? Boy, that would be a foreign exchange they'd never forget!

Zulini: What do you think this is? The climactic conclusion to some high budget science fiction movie?

Pyle: If nothing else, it would boost the membership of our International Club.

Zorphus: Honestly Pyle, do you think this would be a feasible preconception? An earthling would have a horrendous time adapting to the physical and social composition of our Terrene . . .

Zulini: Besides, it would be ludicrous for one to depart from such a fine edifice. We have seen a centuple of Enterprises, Pyle, but yours is unequalled in greatness and amplitude!

Zorphus: That is why we are compelled to veto your ideate and repatriate singly to our Sphere.

Pyle: Does that mean you don't like my idea?

Zorphus: That is a factual manifesto, Comrade Pyle.

Pyle: . . . You're probably right.

Zorphus and Zulini: Farewell, Comrade Pyle, and thank you for your conviviality.

Pyle: So long, my friends, and if you're ever in the neighborhood, feel free to just "drop" in. Ha, ha, ha . . .

Zorphus and Zulini ignore Pyle's humorous statement as they board their space craft and slowly rise into the starry blue atmosphere, creating a forceful gust of wind that crashes through the thin and brittle picture windows. Dr. Pyle is left standing in a whirlwind of typing paper, broken glass, palm fronds, and a year full of great memories . . .

Special thanks to Scott Dillard for his contributions to the dialogue.
